

Junior Designer Job Description

Glorious Creative is a nearly two decade long established, independent and multi award-winning brand and design studio, working with both recognised and start up, national and international brands.

We blend strategy and creativity to create meaningful and compelling brand propositions and stories for our clients. Driven by creativity and a passion for great ideas, we craft brand communications that connect with consumers, shift perceptions and solve business problems.

We're looking for an ambitious, well-rounded junior graphic designer to join our friendly team, based in Manchester's Northern Quarter.

The role

This is a creative role for an ambitious junior designer with a strong portfolio. You will be joining our small, friendly team and will be a key player in helping us create and deliver great work for our clients.

Skills & Responsibilities

You will be working on a diverse range of projects across industries such as property, healthcare, manufacturing, and retail, spanning both digital and print projects, and will:

- Work closely with and support the team with taking designs and artwork from their conception through to completion.
- Explore creative concepts and share back with the team
- Join creative meetings, contribute to client pitches and be part of the creative process
- Help extend creative concepts and brand guidelines into a wide range of deliverables, from motion to exhibitions
- Create digital and print artwork, assets and templates

What we're looking for

You are a creative team player that can think strategically across different media and own the creative process from inception to production.

You must be able to work both independently and collaboratively and have;

- 2+ years of commercial experience at a brand, studio or agency.

- You have worked on both digital and print projects from concept to completion.
- You're confident analysing and understanding how brands position and present themselves.
- You have an understanding of brand guidelines and digital/social platforms.
- You are accurate with attention to detail, along with excellent typography skills.
- You're fluent in the Adobe Creative Suite including InDesign, Illustrator, Photoshop and After Effects.
- You're digitally aware and learning new programmes doesn't faze you
- You're technically solid, able to propose ideas and visualise design stories across a variety of media.
- You're able to communicate effectively (verbally and written) with internal and external stakeholders.

Personally, you should also be:

- Creative and full of ideas
- Ambitious, excited by the chance to take on responsibility from day one
- Friendly (and have good sense of humour!)

What we offer

The successful candidate will be joining a nearly 20 years established, ambitious and independent studio with an unmatched reputation in the North.

We believe in working together as a close-knit team and pride ourselves on our passion to deliver the best results for our clients.

Our founding partners have global agency backgrounds and extensive branding experience. We can offer the right person growth and development, as well as the opportunity to learn from those with a wealth of agency experience behind them.

20 days holidays a year plus bank holiday.

Salary is negotiable depending on experience.

Although the role is currently remote, it will be predominantly studio-based once we can work together safely again.
